ALL BROKE UP

It is useless to expect to do a rushing clothing business without having left at the end of seasons, broken lines and broken sizes. We have them; everybody has them who does anything like a thriving business.

And, do you know what we do with closed lots and odd sizes that are "all broke up," a suit of this, two of that, three of another, etc.? We take the prices down and waltz them out. This tends to fill in the dull between-season gap that would otherwise find us with folded arms.

The lively toot of trade for these very garments we're talking about is taking them from every stock.

Many a man is made happy with $12 corkscrew suits for $9.50, or $9 suits for $5. Then the happiness goes out at $10, $12, $14 and $15.

The tickled boys and pleased mothers picking knee pant suits (solid ones) for $1.50, for $2, and 8-year-old long pant suits for an even dollar. It's a ticklish time to buy outside, where everything isn't done just exactly square, where they ask you $9 and take $8, or $25 and take $17.50, if they can get it.

Unlaundried shirts are the very best here; best materials, best shape, best making, 50c, 75c, $1. No trash.

LOUISIANA LIGHTNING

Strikes in a New Place—Most Gorgeous of Weddings, in Which a Colored Fair Break the Record.

The Extravagant Treaty Likely to be Negotiated by the Senate—Chloroform in Austria—Other Interesting News Matters.

By the Associated Press.

NEW ORLEANS, July 29.—The biggest colored wedding ever witnessed in the state of Louisiana was celebrated at the St. Louis plantation, in Iberville parish, yesterday. For quite a number of years this city has been the scene of the most magnificent of colored social occasions, and not a few white persons of standing were present. As far as dresses are concerned, few ball rooms have seen anything finer. The contracting parties were Miss Ella Elkan, daughter of a merchant of the Louisiana legislature, and Prof. Palmerton Landrey, of Mansfield college, another legislator.

The bride's father was originally a slave and a coachman and is now proprietor of a large sugar plantation.

The Cabinet.

LONDON, July 29.—The following appointments are officially announced: Secretary of foreign affairs, Earl of Salisbury; chief secretary for Ireland, Sir Michael Hicks Beach; chancellor of the exchequer, Randolph Churchill, who, by virtue of his appointment, becomes the recognized leader of the conservative party in the house of commons; secretary for war, Lord Herbert; secretary for the colonies, Lord George Hamilton; Lord High Chancellor, Baron Halsbury; secretary for India, Lord Frederick Arthur Stanley; prime minister and first lord of the treasury, Lord Salisbury; the lord lieutenant of Ireland, the Marquis of Londonderry.

United Ireland, today, says: "True with Ireland's heart, but the Irish people have not the least idea of estranging the English masses. It would be impossible to produce a more eloquent example of policy by running the Irish down Irish through than is offered in Marquis of Salisbury's appointment as Irish viceroy of Marquis of Londonderry, inheriting as he does the name and name of the cut-throat and hideous Castlereagh."

Congress.

WASHINGTON, July 29.—SENATE.—The chair presented the proclamation of the governor of Utah, relative to the violation of the marriage law of that territory. He referred to a committee on territories. Hear asked leave to report from the committee on library, a preamble and resolution for the appointment of a committee of five members, (the presiding officer to be named) to visit the territories and report at the next session of congress, a plan for properly celebrating at the capital of the republic the centennial anniversary in 1889, of the adoption of the constitution and the 40th anniversary (1849) of the discovery of America by Christopher Columbus. Hall objected and the resolution was overruled.

The president sent the following nominations to the senate today: Geo. A. Jenks, Pennsylvania, solicitor general; Bradley M. Thomas, receiver of public money, East Sagadahoc, Mich.

Logan, secretary, Akron, Ohio; John Danner, treasurer, Wm. Rawle, Toledo, Ohio; L. Case, Cincinnati, E. J. Morris, Cincinnati, and Gideon Stewart, Norwalk.

NEW YORK, July 29.—The fact is published this morning that the Postal Telegraph company was completely reorganized yesterday by foreclosure and sale. The old mortgage bonds and stock were sold out and a new company was formed, with a capital stock of $5,000,000. No bonds or other obligations now exist. Mackey is the principal holder of stock. The policy of the company at present is to extend its lines to all the principal points on the Pacific coast.

That Extravagant Treaty.

NEW YORK, July 29.—A Washington special to the Times-Sun says that the senate committee on foreign affairs had under consideration yesterday at its regular meeting the extradition treaty recently signed by representatives of the United States and Great Britain. There seems to be little chance of the treaty's being considered by the senate at this session.

Chloroform in Austria.

PLOWING BY MACHINERY.

Successful Operation of the Kelly Steam Plow, Operated by a Traction Engine.

Every new implement or piece of machinery manufactured in one of Springfield's many shops adds just that much to the material advancement of the city. When a new article of manufacture takes in an entirely new field, so far as this city's output is concerned, added importance is given to the subject and it becomes worthy of more than a passing notice.

For years a successful steam plow has been the dream of the large farmer and land owner. Especially is this true on the western prairies. It is not meant that there are no steam plows, for manufacturers have had their "dreams" as well as the farmers. But the steam plows already on the market are either too costly or too cumbersome or do not come up to the mark in some other particular.

It will probably remain for a Springfield firm to put on the market the steam plow so long sought for. Any day for the past week might have been seen a steam plow in operation on the Fritz farm, south of the city between the Yellow Springs and Clinton pikes. The plow was made by the Springfield Engine and Traction Co. and is of the Nelson patent, and Warren and Ed. Kelley are paying particular attention to perfecting it. This is the second plow the firm has made this year, one having been made and tried early this spring and abandoned. This second plow was improved from defects noticed in the first, and a third plow will be manufactured this fall, with further improvements.

The plow in operation now is drawn by a ten-horse power traction engine, such as the firm manufactures for general purposes, only the track of the wheel is made broader (20 inches in this case) so as to afford a wide surface on the soft ground. The "plow" is a gang of five independent plows, turning a furrow four feet and a fraction inches wide, the whole gang cutting a swath of six feet at one trip. The ground now being plowed is wheat stubble and is being put in for fall sowing. The plows are cutting 8 1/2 inches deep, though of course the depth can be regulated as in any other plow.

O. S. Kelly, who has been an interested spectator of the operations of the plow from time to time, informs a Globe-Republic representative that the plow is now doing what requires five men and fifteen average horses, as it would require three average horses to pull a plow cutting 14 inches wide and 8 1/2 inches deep. Two men are required with this implement, one to run the engine and one to manage the plows. The manufacturers expect, eventually, to dispense with this second man, and have the lifting of the plow done by machinery, under control of the engine.

One of the faults of the other plows has been too large and cumbersome engines. With a fifteen-horse power engine in soft ground a great deal, it is not all, of the extra power is required in propelling the engine itself.

The Kelly engine is expected to be a general purpose engine, which can be used by the farmer out of the ploughing season for threshing, cutting wood, shelling corn, grinding feed, etc.

No full test has been made of the amount of work that can be done by the plow, but by timing time at work it was found that the rate of one acre per hour was easily attained. The test is considered quite successful, but a number of improvements are to be made before the plow will be put on the market. Chief among these improvements will be the endeavor to lighten the cost and place them within the range of persons needing such machinery. Many persons have witnessed the plow in operation and expressed themselves as well pleased with its work.

The wives of the Messrs. Kelly were also interested spectators. The Kellys believe they are now on the right road to success, and while it may require a few more years, they are confident of their success.

Chief of Police Walker tells a different story relative to the release of Chief Anderson Monday night. He says the understanding between himself and the brigade commander was that should any soldiers be arrested for minor offenses the headquarters should be immediately notified and would arrange for taking charge of them. As soon as he found that the soldiers had been locked up that night, Walker telegraphed to Col. Mead, and officers who happened to be in the city, including a surgeon, a captain and two lieutenants, were given charge of the men after their names had been taken, to march them to the camp. It is reported that the arrested men were promptly marched to the guard house and turned over to the proper officers.

Wanted—A Stretcher.

Sunday evening two honest looking men appeared at Drs. McLaughlin and Russell's office and asked for the loan of a stretcher to carry a boy who was taken sick on west North street to his home on Pearl street.

The men promised faithfully to return the stretcher in an hour and the doctor consented. Although four days have since elapsed, they are still looking for the stretcher in vain. A word to the wise, etc.

THE BUILDING BOOM.

Two Extensive and Important Building Improvements Determined Upon This Morning.

Hon. John W. Bookwalter Contracts for a $25,000 Addition to the Lagoda House—Paving House to be Remodeled.

As an evidence of the rejuvenated prosperity of Springfield, two handsome and important building improvements were determined upon today, of which every public spirited citizen of the community will learn with genuine pleasure. Hon. John W. Bookwalter has been in the city for several days past attending to some matters of business, principal of which was the consummation of his plans to build an addition to the Lagoda house, on the High street side. Mr. Bookwalter has been considering various plans and figures for the improvement and this morning entered into a contract for the immediate erection of the addition, with a prominent contractor of this city. The work will be commenced forthwith and when completed will add a hundred percent to the appearance of High street at that point and much to the accommodations of the Lagoda house.

As included in the plans now entertained, the Lagoda house will be built on solidly from its present west wall to Pinrose alley, covering the ground occupied by the frame building in which Dr. Day's office and Ludlow's cigar store are located, giving an additional front on High street of 50 feet and running back 115 feet. A space will be left between the old and new buildings, the kitchen and store-room will be accessible, but all the rest of the space will be occupied and built solidly by the addition. It will be constructed of pressed brick, with massive stone trimmings and plate glass windows. Two handsome business rooms, fronting on High street, will be provided, and it is understood, are already spoken for. It is a large and fine apartment house, the new Lagoda house, making an aggregate of about 180 rooms in the building. The improvement will cost in the neighborhood of $25,000. The new structure will be five full stories in height, as the descent of the hill at that point makes necessary. Mr. Bookwalter is building with special reference to ultimately carrying out his pet project of running an apartment house in the city of Springfield. He leaves tomorrow for New York and sails at an early date for Europe and the Mediterranean lands.

Another building deal was concluded by Ross Mitchell and his business manager, Captain C. A. Welsh, this morning. One of the most commanding and substantial structures in Springfield is the egg and shell packing establishment on Mechanic street, between Main and Columbia. It was built at a great outlay by Ross Mitchell, several years ago, for A. L. King and J. Thompson. It was used as a packing establishment and warehouse for fruit, eggs, butter and poultry. Specially constructed floors, built hollow to receive ice, were put in, and expensive paraphernalia used throughout, as an immense business was expected. But the plan failed to work, and the business was abandoned. Since that time, the building has been practically idle, although one of the most valuable in the city. This morning a deal was concluded with the Springfield Metallic Casket company, of this city, now located in the Slater block on Market street, by which the latter firm is to occupy the packing house as soon as it can be put in shape. The structure will be thoroughly remodelled from cellar to garret. The inside will be torn out, giving the needed additional room, new windows will be put in and an entire story added to the building. A brick addition will also be built on the rear part. The work will be commenced at once and the firm will probably be in their new quarters by early fall. With increased facilities, they expect to largely increase, if not to double, their force of hands.

CHARMING FLOWER-GIRLS.

The Flower Mission Organizes—Increased Profusion of Floral Contributions.

The second regular meeting of the Springfield Flower Mission was held at room 30, in the Arcade, this morning, and was a highly successful one. Every particular of the preliminary gathering held a week ago. There was a large attendance of members, and such a delightful chatter was probably never heard outside of an aviary. There was also a most gratifying increase in the contributions of flowers, and a sufficient quantity of beautiful floral material was on hand to prepare the altar for several hours. Quite a number of expulsive bouquets were constructed, but the greater portion of the flowers were packed in damp paper and arranged in convenient paste-board boxes, to be distributed among the worthy. All the members of the mission brought flowers this morning, and the Springfield Seed Co. and P. H. Murphy, the north side florist, also contributed some exquisite Maribell, Neil roses and tuberoses. Mrs. C. G. Clark and Mrs. Chase sent welcome bouquets, and Mrs. Baldwin McCreary a most exquisite box of geraniums, roses and other seasonable blossoms. The aggregate of flowers made the room both radiant and fragrant. The mission organizers of this morning and effected organization as follows:

President—Miss Frances Rodgers.

Board of Managers—Misses Della Warren, Annabel Paige, Fannie Foley, Carrie Steele, Lulu Edwards, Fannie Foley, Carrie Steele and Harriet Bushnell.

Secretary—Miss Sadie Phelps.

Treasurer—Miss Darrington Bowman.

The board of managers will, in the main, attend to the active work of the mission and such business as may come up for settlement. As can be seen at a glance, the organization is a most efficient one, and all the officers will bring to bear upon the work their energy, enthusiasm and industry.

At ten o'clock the work of distribution was commenced and occupied the remainder of the forenoon, all quarters of the city receiving visits from the young lady missionaries. Lists of deserving poor or sick are furnished by the city physicians, and the excellent arrangements bestowed that the floral blessings be worthily bestowed. A pathetic chapter might be written of the expressions of thankfulness and appreciation encountered by the young ladies in their lovely work. This, happily, is a peculiar branch of charity that none need feel any delicacy in accepting, and the work is a great one. Regular meetings will be held on each Thursday forenoon, and it is hoped that the donations of flowers may be increasingly liberal.

LOCAL BASE BALL'S A "GO."

A Rotting Good Team Organized and a Game Next Week—Personnel of the Club.

The suggestion made in last Sunday's Globe-Republic urging the organization of an amateur base ball club from the abundant and excellent material at hand, has borne excellent and gratifying fruit. For C. Bishop, of Reading, Pa., who is spending the summer in the city, and Harry Frey, secretary of Mast, Foss & Co., took the matter in charge immediately, and their enthusiasm and influence showed its effects forthwith. Yesterday a few of the lovers of the national game and players who had figured lately in the diamond in past struggles, met and effected the organization of a club made up as follows:

Ed. Hird, catcher.

Let's Bishop, pitcher.

Frederick Johnson, short stop.

Harry Frey, third base.

O. B. Johnson, second base.

James Johnson, Jr., first base.

Robert Frey, outfield.

Hugh McAllister, third base.

Chas. Rodgers, right field.

Ed. S. Kelly, catcher and second base.

As will be seen, the club is made up of excellent material. Most of the members wielded the willow and chased the sphere with the resolute "Nationals" that was the terror of Central Ohio in its palmy days. The club will go into immediate practice at Association Park in the West End, which Mr. Mast has kindly tendered the team. The nine will be called the "Nationals," the name that calls up so many happy memories. The club will be organized on the spot in five days and will have written for a date and will bring a strong team down at an early day. A return game will be played in Urbana later. If arrangements already affected hold good, as there is little doubt that they will, a club from Dayton will come up to be slaughtered a week from next Saturday.

The town is ripe for some good ball, and the article on the sport in some days in this paper, printed in this paper last Sunday, emphasized the public humor. It is thoroughly believed that good patronage can be obtained among our best people. The personnel of the club, it will be seen, is such that the better classes will be appealed to, to the exclusion of the hum element. "Hah for the 'Nationals' and the glory diamond."

LAVER.

A meeting of the named ball players will be held at 5 o'clock tonight in the Lagoda house parlors, to perfect an organization. Word from Urbana is that it is believed a game can be arranged for next Saturday, and thus the ball that was started last Sunday by the Globe-Republic promises to "keep rolling" until it assumes some of the proportions of 1876-77.

BLIND FOR LIFE.

An Ignorant German Nurse and the Horrible Consequences of Her Malpractice—Putting a Baby's Eyes Out.

A terribly sad case of the fearful results of ignorant malpractice came to light a few days ago. Otto Seifert, a well-known German machinist, living in the east end, brought his three-months-old infant to Dr. Bliss, the specialist, to have its eyes treated. An examination instantly revealed the fact that sight had left the poor little eyes forever, and that the child was hopelessly blind for life. Mr. Seifert was crushed at the sad intelligence, and blamed himself severely as the innocent author of the babe's pathetic misfortune.

The child was born early in May, and was delivered by a German midwife, whose reputation for intelligence is not first-class. She offered her services as nurse, and the baby and mother, and was accepted. Three days after its birth the baby began to have trouble with its eyes, and a purulent inflammation set in, peculiar to children during the first few weeks of their existence. In default of calling an oculist or at least a physician, as the gravity of the case unquestionably demanded, the woman applied some sort of a hideous wash to the baby's eyes, which had the effect of rubbing both eyeballs and confounding the helpless little life to total darkness. The parents, naturally became alarmed at the infant's evident inability to see, and consulted Dr. Bliss, with the result known. Both balls are coated with a white film, and the doctor's practice eye speedily settled upon the sad state of affairs. The ignoramus who thus played away a life of happiness ought to be prosecuted to the fullest extent of the law.

It is said that Seifert recently acquired in another case in precisely the same manner.

Dr. Bliss states that fully one-fourth of all the so-called "born blind" people lose their eyesight by a failure to properly attend to this purulent inflammation, which demands the most careful, prompt and skillful treatment.

SHOT IN HIS EYE.

A Boy Badly Hurt From a Gun Discharge Yesterday.

Fred Ernest, the young son of Mr. and Mrs. George H. Ernest, of Patton street, met with a severe experience yesterday, which, in that it might have been so much worse, can almost be called a fortunate accident. In company with a lad about his own age, young Ernest was handling and examining a gun, which, in the absence of definite information on the point it is fair to presume he did not know was loaded. In some manner the butt of the gun struck against a stone and the entire contents were discharged point blank into Ernest's face, not a foot away. Fortunately, the gun was not loaded with shot, or the lad would have lived to tell the tale, as the top of his head would have been blown into the next vicinity.

He was taken to the office of Dr. Bliss and received the necessary attention. The left eye was badly burned, but the sight will not be permanently disabled, it is thought.

NEW CARLISLE CAMP-MEETING.

Rev. Thomas Harrison, the Evangelist and Formerly "Boy Preacher," to be Present.

The New Carlisle camp-meeting will open Saturday morning, July 31, with a convention of about twelve Sabbath schools. Rev. Thomas Harrison, the great evangelist and "boy preacher," will be present and address the members. Some of the most talented preachers in the Cincinnati conference of the M. E. church will be present, as well as Rev. Harrison, during the entire meeting; also Lucius Cook, the great crowd player.

Excursion Tickets will be sold on the I. B. & W. from Springfield to west, and Arcanum east.

It is expected that this will be the greatest meeting ever held on the grounds.

Train Stopped Again.

Word has been received that a train was stopped again yesterday north of the city, at the identical place where the stoning occurred a couple of weeks ago, and it is claimed the same boys are charged with the deed. The railroad men are said to be incensed, because the wrong was found guilty and dealt with on the other charge.
